Michael was one of the Nations most highly prized Soccer recruits in 1989 and chose the University of Connecticut over all the others. In his first year at UConn, he was part of the team that was Big East Champions that eventually went to the NCAA tournament. After his Sophomore year he transferred to Philadelphia College of Textiles and Sciences and was a regular starter for the team. He played in 64 Division I soccer games and was a letter winner at both the University of Connecticut and Philadelphia College of Textiles and Science.

After college Michael trained professionally with Tranmere Rovers of the English 1st Division in Liverpool England.
